“Wine has been produced by traditional landholders in the Alto Douro region for some 2,000 years. Since the 18th century, its main product, port wine, has been world famous for its quality. This long tradition of viticulture has produced a cultural landscape of outstanding beauty that reflects its technological, social and economic evolution.” – UNESCO

The Douro Valley landscape is quite consensual. It is said to be unique, spectacular, sublime and is considered a World Heritage Site.

Its consumption is a continuous and insatiable desire and it's omnipresence helps the illusion of conquering and belonging, showing how invasive and permanent can the image of a place be.

The proposal is a two-fold portrayal of the figurative interpretation of Douro by the locals. Images that portray a reality removed from reflexion, which both enhances its exhaustive experience and the permanent commercialization of the region.
